

Faith Comment published in the Petersfield Post

Christian Comment - 1 September 2009: Brian D Blogg, United Reformed Church

Let God show you the way

All the youngsters in my family have satnavs. I think it must be a generation thing but then I have the advantage that if I motor into uncharted territory I always have an expert navigator at my side.

It would be foolish in the extreme to set off for a remote destination without having a map to guide me.

If to set out on a car journey with so little preparation is considered absurd, how much more so it is to venture on the journey of life without knowing the way?

Yet so many do and they remain ignorant of the fact that the one who put the stars into space and created the angels said 'I am the way...'

To claim that 'there are many roads that lead to God' has no foundation in scriptures, for Jesus said 'No-one comes to the Father except through me.' (John 14:6).

The unique aspect of the Christian faith is that Jesus was God; came from God into our world in human form.

You can have a living relationship with him.

Many have found that doing the Alpha Course helps or just talking to any of our church leaders, but do not continue to stumble blindly along without knowing Jesus Christ the Son of the Living God.